

It is very difficult for Christians to experience good radio programming, especially in areas like North Central Washington, due to the cost of maintaining such radio stations. K-LOVE is the only station that I am able to receive locally that really appeals to my beliefs and musical tastes. Many people in such rural areas feel the same. We cannot afford to have our own stations so to take away services such as K-LOVE would be to deprive us completely of such needed and desired services. Please do not take away such stations which encourage morality and family values. They are becoming more and more rare in all forms of popular media (television, radio, periodicals, etc.). Thank you and God bless, Zach Ross
